

Foreign investor duty surcharge

For foreign persons acquiring an interest in property in Tasmania...

About the surcharge

The Foreign Investor Duty Surcharge (FIDS) is an additional amount of duty charged when residential or primary production property is acquired (either directly or indirectly) by a foreign person.

A direct acquisition occurs when the land acquired will be registered as being owned by the foreign person. These are assessed under Chapter 2 of the Duties Act 2001.

An indirect acquisition occurs if a significant interest in a land owning company or trust is acquired by a foreign person, or where a land use entitlement is acquired by way of allotment of shares or issue of units. These are assessed under Chapter 3 of the Duties Act.

FIDS is charged as an additional duty impost of:

- 3 per cent on the proportion of the dutiable value of residential property directly or indirectly acquired by a foreign person; and
- 0.5 per cent on the proportion of the dutiable value of primary production property directly or indirectly acquired by a foreign person.

The surcharge applies for acquisitions that occur on or after 1 July 2018.

Definition of a foreign person

A foreign person includes:

- a foreign natural person;
- a foreign corporation; and
- a foreign trustee (including a nominee).

Who is a foreign natural person?

A foreign natural person is an individual who is not acting in the capacity as a trustee of a trust, who is not:

- an Australian citizen within the meaning of the Australian Citizenship Act 2007 of the Commonwealth; or
- the holder of a permanent visa within the meaning of the Migration Act 1958 of the Commonwealth; or
- a New Zealand citizen who is the holder of a special category visa within the meaning of the Migration Act 1958 of the Commonwealth.

What is a foreign corporation?

A foreign corporation is a corporation incorporated:

- outside of Australia; or
- in Australia in which foreign natural person/s, foreign corporation/s, or trustee/s of foreign trust/s have a significant interest in the corporation.

All corporations are presumed to be foreign unless proved otherwise.

What is a foreign trustee?

A foreign trustee is a person who holds, agrees to hold, or has acquired, dutiable property on trust for a foreign trust. A foreign trustee can be an Australian citizen or corporation incorporated in Australia.

What is a foreign trust?

A foreign trust is a trust in which a foreign natural person, foreign corporation, or a foreign trustee has a substantial interest in the trust. All trusts are deemed to be foreign unless proved otherwise.

Are discretionary trusts foreign trusts?

A trustee under a discretionary trust generally has a power or discretion to distribute the capital of the trust estate to a person or a member of a class of persons. Any such person is taken to have a beneficial interest in the maximum percentage of the capital of the trust estate that the trustee is empowered to distribute to that person. This means that any discretionary trust that has any potential foreign beneficiaries will be a foreign trust.

How can I satisfy my TRO Agent or the Commissioner of State Revenue that I am not a foreign person?

The following forms have been updated to assist in identifying if a transferee is a foreign person:

- A. Duty Transferee \(Person\) Information Form
- B. Duty Transferee \(Company\) Information Form

About the use of the forms

TRO Agents can use the above forms to collect information from the liable taxpayer/s in order to submit transactions through TRO.

The Commissioner of State Revenue will also use the forms. Information required in the forms can also be collected directly by your representative and entered into TRO. See more details on the next column.

About the form: Individuals

Individuals (not acting in a capacity as a trustee) who are Australian citizens need to disclose to their TRO Agent (or the Commissioner of State Revenue) that they are an Australian Citizen. The State Revenue Office may ask for additional evidence if required.

Individuals who are not foreign persons (because they hold a Permanent Visa or a Special Category Visa) will need to provide evidence to satisfy that they are a holder of a Visa (providing just the visa number and class is not sufficient).

Evidence may include a certified copy of the individual's passport evidencing their Visa status or documentation obtained from the Visa Entitlement Verification Online (VEVO) system from the Commonwealth Department of Home Affairs.

About the form: Corporation or Trust

A corporation or trust acquiring residential or primary production property will be required to satisfy its TRO Agent (or the Commissioner of State Revenue if not using a TRO Agent), that it is not foreign in order to avoid imposition of the FIDS. A careful examination of a corporation's structure or the trust provisions will be required and the evidence required can vary.

What is residential property?

Residential property includes:

- vacant land on which a building may be built so that the land would be capable of being used predominantly for residential purposes;
- land on which a person intends to build a building (or which includes a building the person intends to refurbish) so that the land would be capable of being used predominately for residential purposes;

What is residential property?

Residential property also includes:

- land on which a building is currently located which is capable of being used predominately for residential purposes; and
- goods which are linked to the use of any of the above land.

Residential property includes an option, a land use entitlement or a partnership interest which relates to residential property.

What is primary production property?

Primary production property includes:

- land which is capable of being used predominately for primary production purposes;
- land which a person intends to develop so that it is capable of being used predominately for primary production purposes; and
- goods which are linked to the use of any of the above land.

Primary production property also includes an option, a land use entitlement or a partnership interest which relate to primary production property.

Are there any concessions or exemptions?

FIDS is not payable if the underlying transaction is exempt or is eligible for a concession. An exception to this occurs if the transaction is eligible for a concession under section 50 of the Duties Act, in which case FIDS is payable.

What if the land type changes?

A foreign person must notify the Commissioner of State Revenue within 14 days if land becomes primary production property or residential property within 3 years of its acquisition. This includes where primary production property becomes residential property.

The transaction will be reassessed as if at the time of the acquisition the land was residential property or primary production property (whichever is relevant). The additional FIDS is payable 90 days from the date of the land type change.

The land type change rules do not apply to landholder transactions under Chapter 3.

What if a person becomes foreign?

A person must notify the Commissioner of State Revenue within 14 days if the person becomes a foreign person within 3 years of the acquisition of the land. The transaction will be reassessed as if at the time of the acquisition the person was a foreign person. The additional duty is payable within 90 days of the person becoming a foreign person.

FIDS is not reassessed if a person who was a foreign person at the time of the acquisition becomes an Australian person within 3 years.

What if the acquisition occurred before 1 July 2018?

- A. FIDS is not chargeable if the acquisition (whether directly or indirectly) occurred before 1 July 2018.
- B. If a contract was entered into before 1 July 2018, but settled on or after that date, FIDS applies.

What do I do if I am liable for FIDS?

The dutiable document or acquisition statement needs to be assessed for duty in the normal manner. However, some additional information is required so that the FIDS can be calculated.

For direct acquisitions under Chapter 2 this will include information about:

- what type/s of land are being acquired;
- the value of any residential and/or primary production property being acquired; and
- the percentage of the land being acquired by a foreign person/s.

For landholder acquisitions under Chapter 3 the information required will include:

- the type/s of land held by the landholder;
- the value of any residential and/or primary production property held by the landholder as at the date of any acquisition in the landholder made by the foreign person; and
- the percentage of the landholder acquired by a foreign person/s.

For land use entitlements under Chapter 3, the information will include the type/s of land related to the land use entitlement.
